order of: S. C. Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission.

Tony Mathews of Clemson breaks through for a gain in the Virginia game last year. There is an interesting story, One Whale Of A Game, in this program on the Tiger-Cavalier thriller of a season ago.

The north stands after completion in 1942.

The south stands overflowed at the 1952 Villanova game.

30,000 jammed in when Clemson and Maryland met in 1955.

A FIELD NAMED HOWARD

When the name of Frank Howard is mentioned, people automatically think of Clemson football. And today, they are going to permanently enshrine the name of Frank Howard with Clemson football.

Howard, who was instrumental in having the name of Memorial Stadium made official in honor of Clemson's war dead and who won so many games on the playing surface which will bear his name that it became known as Death Valley to Tiger opponents, will be center stage again today as he has been so many times in the past.

The 65-year-old balding veteran actually helped clear the land where Memorial Stadium stands today back in 1941. The modern edifice held 20,000 and the first game was played in it in 1942. This capacity pretty well took care of the Clemson faithful until the Tigers became members of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The first overflow crowd was in 1952 against Villanova, but the stadium didn't really begin to pop at the seams until some of the stronger ACC teams started appearing at Clemson in the mid 50's. When Maryland came here in 1955, with the winner destined to meet Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, 30,000 were on hand.

That got Howard, who was also athletic director in addition to being head coach, to thinking about the future. With backing from the university administration, funds were made available to add 18,000 sideline seats and these were ready before the 1958 season opened. It didn't take long for the new seats to get baptized.

In the second game of '58, the late Jim Tatum brought a great North Carolina team into the Valley. Clemson had to become from behind three times, and the Tigers finally won it, 26-21, and that was Howard's 100th collegiate victory.

When the South Carolina game was changed to a home-and-home series, additional seats were needed and the 5,700-plus end zone stands were ready for the first Gamecock visit in 1960. There were 45,080 on hand to see the Tigers win, 12-2. There are actually 43,451 permanent seats in the stadium, but this has been passed on seven occasions. Nearly 10,000 have been seated in Section GG (Green Grass) on the sloping hill in front of the scoreboard, with the stadium record crowd being 53,247 in 1968 when South Carolina appeared here.

The capacity was raised to 38,000 in 1958.

From the time Memorial Stadium was conceived, through its improvements and additions, guiding the Tigers through 20 years of .500 ball or better, carrying Clemson to six post season bowl games, weathering lean money years but always operating on a sound financial basis, Frank Howard was always there, seemingly making the right decision, and always for the betterment of Clemson University and its athletic program. Some say when he put his feet under the desk, "The Board was in session."

Howard saw 305 consecutive Clemson games dating back from his last year as an assistant coach until he retired as athletic director in 1971. His teams won 77 of 109 games in Death Valley, with two being ties. Clemson claimed 27 shutouts at home under Howard and were blanked only six times. They scored in 38 consecutive home games at one stretch, won 10 straight during the 1949-50-51 seasons at home and ine in a row during 1957-58-59. They more than doubled the score on opponents, 2,643 to 1,242.

So today, through action of the Clemson Board of Trustees, the playing surface of Clemson Memorial Stadium becomes Frank Howard Field. He paced many a mile on the sideline, knowing all the time that it was his field, but it was never official. Now it is and he's happy that it happened when he could still smell the roses.

'39 BACK AFTER 35

Clemson's First bowl team, the Cotton Bowl champions of 1940, returns to the campus today for their first reunion since that memorable day in Dallas when the Tigers upset a great Boston College coached by the legendary Frank Leahy.

Jess Neely was in his ninth and final year as head coach of the Tigers, although it wasn't until Clemson had won the Cotton Bowl title, 6-3, that Neely decided to go to Rice University as head coach where he stayed 27 seasons. The man who succeeded Neely at Clemson, Frank Howard, was to stay in one spot 30 years.

Neely suffered through his first three seasons (7-17-4), but in 1934 IPTAY was born and Neely didn't have another losing year at Clemson. He posted a 5-4-0 mark in 1934, went to 6-3-0 the following campaign and then had two break even seasons of 5-5-0 and 4-4-1.

In 1938 only a loss to Tennessee and a tie with VMI on successive weekends marred an otherwise successful season.

Neely and his staff took some five-year veterans, along with some true seniors, and sprinkled then with some sophomores who came with names like Joe Blalock, Charlie Timmons, George Fritts, George Floyd, Hugh Jameson and others, and they formed a potent machine.

The ring leader of this 42-man squad was a gangling senior named Banks

McFadden, who had already gained fame around the nation with his basketball and track prowess, in addition to his grid heroics. With Bonnie Banks in the back-field were Timmons and two seniors, blocking back Joe Payne and wingback Shad Bryant. And there were others who spelled these regulars with consistent performances during the year.

Seniors Tom Mooror, Walter Cox and Carl Black, along with juniors Bill Hall and Bob Sharpe, and those two sophomores, Blalock and Fritts, formed the first team line, going both ways. Neely ran two teams for the most part, although not offense and defense as today.

In addition to those already mentioned, others who lettered that year were Wister Jackson, Frank Deitz, Charlie Tisdale, Ray Hamer, Jim Blessing, Whitey O'Kurowski, Aubrey Rion, Norwood McElveen, Jim Pasley, Roy Pearce, Bru Trexler, Ace Parker and Chippy Maness.

Back then the Tigers ran from the single wing formation and an unbalanced line. On occasion some plays came from short punt and a balanced line. And as the victories mounted, so did the honors. McFadden was named All-America and joining him on the All-Southern squad were Fritts and Bryant. These three were joined by Blalock, Sharpe and Cox on the All-State team.

Most Clemson football followers can tell you that the only loss suffered by the 1939 team was from Tulane, 7-6, even though McFadden had one of his greatest days punting, averaging over 42 yards on 12 punts.

But that was the only time the Tigers were held under 13 points all season. And nobody scored more than seven points on them in any one game.

After an opening 18-0 win over Presbyterian, then came the Tulane loss. But from there on out, it was win, win, win. N. C. State fell, 25-6, in Charlotte; South Carolina was blanked, 27-0, at the State Fair; the Navy was sunk, 15-7, in Annapolis without McFadden; George Washington tumbled, 13-6, in the nation's capitol; the Tigers came back home to down Wake Forest, 20-7; Southwestern took a 21-6 licking in Memphis; and Furman fell in Greenville, 14-3.

And then in Dallas New Year's Day Timmons scored Clemson only touchdown and McFadden spent a greater part of the afternoon ranging from sideline to sideline knocking down the passes of Charlie O'Rourke. He was four for 23.

Joining the '39 team today are coaches Neely, Howard, Bob Jones, Joe Davis and Randy Hinson and manager Salvadore Sottile. Two other coaches, Goat McMillan and Al Segars, are deceased. Payne was captain and Black the alternate.

Ken Callicutt named to UPI National Backfield of the Week.

Sophomore running back Ken Callicutt was selected as one of the four members of the UPI National Backfield of the week for his play in last Saturday's 54-52 thrashing of North Carolina.

The Chester native rushed for 170 yards on 19 carries scoring three touchdowns. He also completed a halfback pass to flanker Joey Walters, which went for a sixty-yard touchdown.

Callicutt was joined in the selected backfield by Harvard quarterback Milt Holt, and running backs Billy Market of Wisconsin and Elliott Walker of Pittsburgh.

No. 1 Antrim Drive (By McAlister Square)

Welcome to Clemson Memorial Stadium. We're glad to have you here for another Saturday of Tiger Football and think you'll find the gridiron action among the most exciting in our conference.

There's another kind of excitement on our campus and we invite you to share that too. It has to do with fulfillment on the one hand and with anticipation on the other.

For more than 10 years we have planned our physical expansion to accommodate a student population of about 10,000 by 1975. As you can observe from a glance around you or a drive through the campus, we have several major construction projects under way. Not since the sixties, when the skyline changed dramatically, has there been as much concurrent expansion under way. This year's freshman class will be witness to more completion and initiation of construction during their educational career than any others have seen in a similar four-year period.

Just across the street from you is Fike Recreation Center, headquarters for Clemson's growing intramurals program, which is undergoing major renovation and expansion. The massive new structure at the rear of Fike will contain a swimming pool and diving tank plus other new facilities. In the middle of Johnstone Hall, visible from the loggia area, construction is about half finished on headquarters for Clemson's University Union program. Under renovation, the old Post Office building, now Mell Hall, will soon become offices for the Student Affairs staff.

On west campus an addition to the College of Architecture's Lee Hall is nearing completion. Construction began during the summer on Barre Hall, new home of the College of Forest and Recreation Resources and administrative offices for the College of Agriculture.

October 16 is groundbreaking day for Jordan Hall, a long-awaited and much needed Biological Sciences Center which will rise in the area just above Strode Tower. Nearby is the site for the College of Nursing's new $3.5 million facility which moved from dream to probable reality with the recently announced pledges of federal support totaling $2.2 million. Complete renovation and expansion of Agricultural Engineering's McAdams Hall will be started this year rounding out the planned physical expansion program.

We are equally excited by the continuing development of our academic programs. Perhaps at no other time in its history has Clemson been in a better position to achieve greatness as a university. During the next few years we anticipate significant changes in curriculum content as we are determined to produce the best possible opportunities for our students. One major innovation in a regional sense is the Southern Region Educational Board's Academic Common Market for Graduate Study. This permits a student at one university to enroll in graduate study programs at other universities in other states without paying out-of-state tuition rates. There are 17 such programs in South Carolina; 14 are at Clemson.

Welcome again to our campus. We're happy that you are with us in person today to share the football fun, and hope you'll be with us in spirit tomorrow as we continue our educational mission.

Bill McLellan, Director of Athletics

Clemson's athletic department is moving rapidly in the right direction mainly because it has a superb chief engineer in Bill McLellan, a man who became the school's third director of athletics Feb. 4, 1971.

Since the Hamer native assumed the department's top position, the Tiger sports' program has experienced a major face-lifting, and one which has caused quite a bit of excitement around the school.

Last December McLellan led a contingent into the Frank Johnstone Jervey Athletic Center as Clemson vacated the out-dated facilities of Fike Field House in place of the modern structure that is by far one of the finest in the entire country. Not only does the Center house administrative and coaches' offices, separate dressing facilities for all sports, and the ticket office, but it houses an auxiliary gym with a tartan floor and two playing courts, a dirt area for inside workouts, training and equipment rooms, steam room and sauna bath, in addition to other allied facilities necessary for an efficient athletic operation, including a weight room second to none.

Additionally, since McLellan has been Clemson's director of athletics, the Tiger track team has christened a nine-lane all-weather outdoor facility, the soccer program has developed into one of the best in the nation as the Tig booters have claimed two consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference titles and have been involved in two straight NCAA playoffs, not to mention the progress Clemson's football and basketball programs have made.

On the grid scene, for example, the old wooden seats in Clemson's Memorial Stadium have been replaced by aluminum ones which are more comfortable for the fans, dressing facilities under the stadium for game use by the Tigers and their opponents are second to no one's, and also during the McLellan era, three new practice fields, one equipped with the finest in lighting techniques are just out the door and a few steps away from the dressing areas in the Jervey Center.

Together with the Tiger baseball field, called "the finest playing surface in the South" by professional scouts and opponents as well, the beautiful 10,600-seat Littlejohn Coliseum across the street from the Jervey Center, the tennis complex that includes 14 lighted hard surface courts and a separate tennis house for office and dressing areas, and the new olympic-size swimming pool and separate diving tank which is being completed in Fike Recreation Center, McLellan has been the architect of one of the most modern and rapidly-developing college athletic programs in the nation.

But his sights have been on the entire Clemson family as well as he has been responsible for a tremendous boom in the intramural program for the student body in addition to the faculty and staff members at Tigertown. In fact, it has grown so fast that this program is being headed by three full-time staff members whereas it operated under the guidance of a part-time director just five short years ago. In making improvements for students as fast as he does for the athletic department, McLellan engineered a five-year plan, now in its second year, of mass growth for the intramural-athletic program.

Such is the saga of Bill McLellan, a loyal Clemson man who has been around Tigertown for almost 25 years, which includes his grid career under the legendary Frank Howard.

After earning a pair of football letters and a member of the 1952 Gator Bowl, McLellan graduated from Clemson in 1954 with a BS in agronomy, and with an MS in agricultural economics two years later.

And since his appointment as assistant business manager of athletics in 1958, he has worked his way, through football coaching, IPTAY, administrative and ticket duties, all the way to the top. And because he has worked so hard to put the Tigers on top, he has risen to the top as well. He's done it for one reason, his love for Clemson University.

He is married to the former Ann Rogers of Fork, and they have two daughters, Suzy, a freshman at Winthrop, and Arch Anna, and two sons, Bill and Cliff.

ARA-Slater's philosophy is a unique, systematic approach designed to achieve our most important goal: STUDENT SATISFACTION. This concept is a result of our experience with millions of students. We have the flexibility to understand your needs and the capability to satisfy them.

At Clemson, ARA demonstrates practical, new methods for providing nourishing, well-balanced meals to athletes, students and staff. Our corporate and regional specialists give ARA's dining service manager expert advice in planning menus, purchasing goods, controlling waste, utilizing labor. The support of this team effort is carried out daily in Schilletter Hall and Harcombe Commons, and at the Clemson House Buffeteria. It is our desire to serve students what they want and to accommodate them by providing this same efficient service for special events or festive holiday meals.

We're here to provide the type of service that will benefit the entire school and community. THAT'S WHAT WE THINK A DINING SERVICE IS ALL ABOUT.

At home in the evening with the entire family is a rarity for Coach Red Parker. But here in a relaxed mood in the Parker den are, left to right, daughter Vicki, son-in-law Phil Wallace, son Jim Mack, Coach Parker, wife Betty and daughter Cindy with the family pooch, Heide.

Whatever you build, build it like you'd recruit your line.

Whether you're building a house, commercial building, or a football line, you want the same qualities: reliability, versatility, strength and staying power.

At Richtex Corporation of Columbia, we build these qualities into our brick with the same enthusiasm with which we support the Clemson Tigers.

Next time you're thinking about building something, think brick. Enjoy the game, and when you think brick, think Richtex.

Red Parker

Head Football Coach

He came to Clemson in December of 1972 with one goal in mind—to put claws back on the Tiger. He installed a new game plan called “Big Red’s Machine—The Tiger Triple,” and with it saw his gridders amass over 4,000 yards offensively. And in leading his footballers to a 5-6 record he caused opponents to look with respect and sometimes even a fear towards his team.

He’s no miracle worker, but Red Parker is one top notch football coach. And the biggest thing he’s got going for himself is the simple fact that he’s one heck of a guy, and one who is respected by not only his peers, his players, and the fans, but by everyone who comes in contact with him.

With this in mind, it’s no wonder that in 21 previous years in the coaching ranks, the Smilin’ Redhead from Hampton, Ark., has never served as anything less than a head coach, and that he has posted an overall record of 148-71-6, including a collegiate won-lost mark of 73-59-2.

A football, baseball, and track letterman at Arkansas A&M, Parker graduated in 1953 and at the ripe young age of 21, assumed the grid reins at Fordyce, Ark., High School, a school that was carrying a 22-game losing streak.

However, by the time the Redhead had worked his successful formula for winning into his eight-year stay at Fordyce, his grid achievements included a 37-game winning skein and a sparkling overall record of 75-12-4.

But the high school’s loss was a definite plus on the side of his alma mater as Parker returned to Arkansas A&M in 1961 to head up the grid fortunes. And although he ended a five-year stay with a 29-19-2 mark, his last three campaigns were by far his best, as Parker’s ’63, ’64, and ’65 teams posted a fine 24-5-1 record and had claimed a pair of conference championships.

The Redhead then journeyed to the State of South Carolina and took over the football duties at The Citadel in 1966, and remained at the Charleston institution through the 1972 season.

After installing a veer offense for the Bulldogs, Parker’s Cadets became the bully of the Southern Conference, and his 1971 team, which scored 366 points and posted an 8-3 mark, had 5,030 yards of real estate to rank the school fourth in the nation in the total offense department. A seven-year stand at The Citadel by Parker gave the ’Dogs a 39-34 record—a mighty fine showing for a school with 2,000 men and one which could only promise a recruit that he would leave the school as a man.

Then came Tigertown. He made no promises prior to his first season other than issuing a warning to opponents that the Tigers would be no easy game. The ’73 footballers won three more games than pre-season prognosticators said they would, and Clemson finished a strong third in the Atlantic Coast Conference behind N. C. State and Maryland, both of whom went on to post-season bowls.

Moreover, the Tigs produced 231 points last fall, more than any other Clemson team had managed since the '59 Blue-bonnet Bowl champs scored 285. And most of all, every single member of last year’s team had one heck of a time playing for one heck of a coach.

And to coin an old Parker phrase, “A dollar to a donut” says that the Tigers will get better and better each year that the Redhead is at the helm. That’s why folks are saying, in reference to the upcoming season, “Excitement Galore—Clemson Football ’74.”

Parker is married to the former Betty Goggans of Rison, Ark., and they have two daughters, Vicki and Cindy, and a son, Jim Mack.

CLEMSON BASKETBALL '74-'75

Tates Locke called it one year ago when he said "This is the beginning of a new era in Clemson basketball history."

It was one year ago when the Tiger boss landed 7-1 Wayne "Tree" Rollins, a youngster out of the small town of Cordele, Ga.; and it was one year ago that Clemson's big center, in only his freshman year, led the Tigers to a 14-12 record, marking the first winning season for Clemson since the 1966-67 cagers went 17-8.

Starting in all 26 varsity games, Tree paced the Tigers in shooting percentage (.543) from the floor and rebounding (12.2), and was second in scoring with a 12.4 mark. Additionally, he blocked 106 shots and was tabbed as the premier big man in the rugged Atlantic Coast Conference, the nation's toughest cage league, by Maryland All-American Len Elmore.

But planted around the Tigers' Tree are some other experienced performers, headed by co-captains Van Gregg and 6-9 forward Wayne Croft.

Gregg has led Clemson's scoring attack the past two seasons, pumping in an average of 13.8 points per game last winter, and Croft, after a mediocre sophomore year, turned in what has to be the greatest turnaround ever by an ACC performer.

Not only did Croft average 11.2 points a contest, but he was second to Tree in rebounding with an 8.0 mark, and together with Rollins gave Clemson a rugged one-two inside punch.

Returning lettermen include 6-1 Jo Jo Bethea (3.3), 6-9 Scott Conant (2.9), 6-0 Bruce Harman (3.7), 6-8 Marty Patterson (3.7), and 6-9 Charlie Rogers (5.5).

And up from last year's Cub unit are 6-8 David Brown (16.1), 6-6 Andy Butchko (11.1), 5-11 Kenny Davis (13.2), and 6-2 John Franken (15.7).

Moreover, Locke has gone out and turned in the best overall recruiting job ever in Tiger cage history, as the fifth-year coach landed two bona fide prep All-Americans, and a pair of others with credentials that would put a flutter in the hearts of most coaches.

Stan Rome brings to Tigertown a 32 point per game scoring average and the award as the nation's best athlete as selected by PARADE Magazine.

At 6-5, Rome was All-American in both football and basketball at Valdosta, Ga., High School, and if he plays in the backcourt he could team up with 6-4 Baltimore, Md., All-American Skip Wise, a whiz who was voted as the top guard in the nation by a panel of college coaches which included UCLA's John Wooden.

Darlington's 6-6 Colon Abraham scored over 28 points a game as a prepster and Williston's Jim Howell, at 6-5, averaged 27 a game, and no doubt the entire incoming frosh foursome will give the vets a run for a starting berth this season.

So the 1974-75 Tiger cage slate looms to be the most exciting year yet in Clemson basketball history.

One Whale Of A Game

It was October 13th, and it was designated as the Homecoming tilt last year; the temperature was in the upper 70's, and it was just a great fall afternoon for football.

But when the fans took their seats, little did they know that they were in store for one super exciting football game even though the contest was billed as another in the long line of high-scoring and offensive-minded Clemson-Virginia grid battles.

For example, the Tigers had come from behind in 1966, trailing 35-18 going into the fourth quarter, to nudge the Cavaliers 40-35.

And although the series lay dormant the next two years, Clemson and Virginia renewed the wars in 1969, and since that time, the Tigers have captured hard-earned victories that season (21-14) and every year since—27-17 in 1970, 32-15 in 1971, and 37-21 in 1972, setting the stage for the '73 show-down.

Clemson won the coin toss, elected to receive, took the kickoff, and marched 72 yards from its own 25-yard line to the Cav three.

But just when it looked as if the Tigs would get on the scoreboard, Virginia's Ron Morley jumped on a loose football at the Cavalier 12, and the Wahoos had halted the drive.

And after Scott Gardner skirted right end for 11 yards and a first down, speedy Kent Merritt raced 72 yards to the Tiger five-yard line, setting the stage for Gardner's one-yard TD sneak two plays later. The extra point attempt was no good, but Virginia led 6-0 with 7:41 to go in the first stanza.

The Tigs' Jay Washington brought back the ensuing kickoff 56 yards to the Cav 41, but just when things were looking bright for the home team, Butch Powers got the Wahoos their second fumble recovery to halt the Clemson drive at the Virginia 35. Eleven plays later, with 2:42 to go in the first quarter, Billy Copeland went off tackle for a six-yard tally, and Billy Maxwell's PAT made it 13-0 Virginia.

Then, the next three times the football was exchanged via kick-offs, the offensive team put the pigskin in the end zone.

The Tigs got on the board by going 77 yards in 12 plays and Ken Callicutt's 3-yard jaunt ended a drive that took 4:47. The extra point attempt was blocked.

Virginia came right back with a 94-yard drive in 13 plays that ate up 5:11, and after Merritt's one-yard end run for the TD, Maxwell's boot gave the Wahoos a 20-6 advantage. But Washington returned the kickoff 32 yards to the Tig 40, and Ken Pengitore's 2-yard TD pass to David Sasser made it 20-12 Virginia as Clemson had gone 60 yards on 11 plays in 4:20.

The Tig defense held the Cavs on the latter's next possession, and after a Wahoo punt, Clemson had the ball on its own 26 with 1:20 remaining till the half. And on a first down situation at the Cav 39, Pengy hit elusive Jim Lanzendoen across the middle, and the Ferrum JC transfer zipped in and out of the Cav defense for the TD. Although the Tigs tried to throw for the two-point conversion and missed, Clemson had narrowed the gap to 20-18 with 30 seconds left, which is the way the half ended.

Clemson wide receiver Jim Lanzendoen (No. 82) waits for the ball (top of picture) on a pass from quarterback Ken Pengitore which was to be the winning touchdown against Virginia last year. Lanzendoen has Cavalier defensive back Eric Dahlgren by a step as he races into the end zone in the center picture. In the right photo Lanzendoen jumps for joy as do Michael Beckish and David Owen (under Lanzendoen's right arm), who are sons of Clemson coaches. (Photos by James G. Wilson of The Greenville News)

Unlike the first half show, there were but three scores in the last two quarters, and Virginia's came with 2:04 left in the third stanza when ex-Tiger Mike Lacika fell on a Clemson fumble in the Tig end zone. Maxwell's PAT made it 27-18 Wahoos.

Then Clemson got a nice break. Frank Wise recovered a Merritt fumble at the Virginia 28, and six plays later Smiley Sanders went the last two yards up the middle. Bob Burgess added the PAT and the Tigs were down by 27-25 with 12:23 left in the game.

After three exchanges of the ball on punts, Clemson again had possession on its own 42 with 7:50 to play.

Sanders went off right tackle for a hard-earned yard, and Pengy followed with a 16-yard first down aerial to Lanzendoen. Sanders scooted right end for 13 more yards and another first down, and the fourth play of the drive was the finest as Pengy hit Lanzendoen for a 28-yard TD. Burgess' PAT with 6:44 to play gave Clemson its first lead at 32-27.

Jim Ness picked off Gardner's pass on Virginia's second play from scrimmage, but four Clemson plays later Callicutt coughed up the ball, Clemson's fourth lost fumble, and the Cavs had it at their own 26 with 4:15 remaining.

Six plays later Virginia had it first-and-ten at the Tig 20, looking for the go-ahead score. But after a couple of runs which netted but one yard, and an incomplete pass, the Wahoos had a fourth-and-nine at Clemson's 17.

George Allen, Jr., dropped back, scrambled, threw to tight end Ken Shelton, but freshman Travers Webb brought the Wahoo tight end down on the Clemson 11, three yards short of the first down, and the Tigers took over with just 56 seconds to go.

But the game was not over as the Cav defense held and forced a punting situation with a fourth and 12 at the 10. Nine seconds remained as Clemson took a delay penalty.

Clemson punter Mitch Tyner, who had been instructed to take a safety and receive a free kick, took the snap deep in the Tiger end zone, waited for the rush, then scampered right, then left, away from the Cavalier linemen, and finally turned up the field as Coach Red Parker tore his hair out.

There was no time left on the clock when Tyner was bumped out of bounds at the 14, thus preventing Virginia from having another play and preserving Clemson's five-point victory.

It had been an incredible wild 60 minutes of football—59 points and over 900 yards of total offense.

Can't beat that for entertainment, but don't be surprised if it happens again today.

Travers Webb and Willie Anderson of Clemson put the stop on Virginia's Ken Shelton at the Clemson 11 after Shelton took six-yard pass from quarterback George Allen, Jr. But the play was three yards short of a first down and Clemson took over to preserve the victory. Jim Ness (7) and Frank Wise (41) have Cavalier Mike Dowe (No. 39) covered while Marion Reeves (No. 38) has Harrison Davis (No. 15) blanketed one yard deep in the Clemson end zone.

ACC Comment: My Plans Following Graduation

RANDY WHITE

RANDY WHITE — University of Maryland: "I try to not get too concerned with the future. I like to live each day as it comes, handle whatever happens, and then start new the next day. So right now I'm concerned with playing football this fall and doing the best job I can. Of course I am definitely interested in playing professional football. I would also like to be able to work with youngsters in some capacity. I do enjoy being around children. My future plans are to play pro ball and work with youngsters in some capacity."

ELLIS ALEXANDER — University of North Carolina: "When I came to North Carolina as a Morehead Scholar, I had no idea what I wanted to do following graduation. I am majoring in history because I am interested in the subject. Through the study of American history, I have become very much interested in the process of law and how it has affected our lives throughout history. Now I am quite anxious to attend law school, either here at Chapel Hill or at another university. I would like to get a try at kicking in professional football. If it works out, perhaps I can do that and attend law school too in order to prepare myself for a long-range career."

ELLIS ALEXANDER

MIKE DEVINE — N. C. State University: "I like working with youngsters everyone else considers to be lost causes. It excites me to be able to motivate them to new levels of achievement. Following graduation, I hope to teach vocational industrial education in the Raleigh area at the high school level, working with the non-college bound students. My degree will be in history and I'll be certified to teach social studies and VIE upon graduation. I really enjoyed my student teaching assignment and I look forward to going to it full time. If I teach, I would also like to coach football, basketball or baseball. Believe it or not, I would rather coach basketball than either of the other two."

MIKE DEVINE

PEANUT MARTIN — Clemson University: "At this point, it's really difficult for me to start making definite career plans. I have two more college years in which to plan my future, and a lot can happen in that time. At the present I am very interested in pursuing a career in law or education. Upon graduation I hope to be able to remain at Clemson to do graduate work because I enjoy the atmosphere around the campus a great deal. Even if I get into some other work, I would enjoy coaching as a hobby in a midget league program and working with youngsters."

PEANUT MARTIN

SCOTT GARDNER

MARK LANDON

My immediate concern, however, is to have a great career at Clemson and getting a shot in the pro ranks."

SCOTT GARDNER — University of Virginia: "Ever since I can remember my goals and ambitions have been directed to a continued life in sports. From my little league days through high school and into college I have had nothing but enjoyable experiences in athletics. The players and coaches I have met, competed with and against, almost without exception, have been my kind of people. After my high school athletic career I was offered a sizeable baseball bonus, a college education and salary with the Kansas City Royals, and this has strengthened my feelings about a career in athletics. To me there's something very special about preparing and working with others towards the common goal of winning. And in the attainment of that goal there is nothing which compares with the feeling of togetherness, satisfaction and even elation that a person experiences."

MARK LANDON — Duke University: "Throughout my life I have been involved in athletics and in many different respects. Because of this close association with athletics, I have decided to pursue a career in coaching. I have always enjoyed working with children and a career in coaching would allow me to work very closely with young men on a regular basis. Athletics and physical education can play an instrumental role in the social development of a child when combined with a comparable academic development. Following graduation I plan to enter the Duke Graduate School of Education working in the area of general education or counseling. Although I plan to begin teaching and coaching on a high school level, my ultimate goal is to reach the collegiate ranks."

DAVID BARTHOLOMEW — Wake Forest University: "Deciding what to do after graduation is always a tough decision for an athlete in college. Personally, I'd jump at the opportunity to play professional ball if one comes along, but I think it's necessary to have an alternate plan in case things don't work out. At this point, I am very interested in a career in public administration, not as an elected official, but possibly as a participant in urban planning or a related field. Despite the recent political crisis, I would still consider it both rewarding and exciting to enter some form of public service. For the moment, however, I'm just concentrating on having a good season. After that, I hope to be attending graduate school in my native state of California."

IPTAY = SUCCESS

For the 10th consecutive year IPTAY funds have increased over those of the previous 12 months, and IPTAY '74 has just ended as the most successful year in the 40 years of the organization's history.

The club poured in 113 per cent of its goal from Sept. 1st, 1973 until the August 31, 1974 closing date, and the figure exceeded the previous year's amount by almost $100,000.

Moreover, in attaining the record-setting mark, every single county in South Carolina reached its respective quota, as did the State's of North Carolina and Georgia. Additionally, the other states, including foreign country contributions, reached 110 per cent of their established goal.

Colleton paced the Palmetto State counties with 189 per cent, followed by Dorchester (140), Chester (138), and a fourth-place tie among Aiken, Calhoun, and Marlboro with 137 per cent.

Next in per cent came Williamsburg (129), Dillon (127), and Cherokee and Edgefield with 123 each.

Again, Greenville County raised the largest contributions of any other county in the state with $96,700, ahead of Richland's $57,220.

The top 10 was rounded out with Pickens ($49,890), Anderson ($44,820), Spartanburg ($39,780), Greenwood ($19,610), Florence ($19,340), Lexington ($16,560), Orangeburg ($15,270), and York ($14,060).

The late Dr. Ruppert H. (Rube) Fike organized IPTAY in 1934 with one purpose in mind—to finance athletic scholarships. And since that date, not one single penny has gone for anything else other than scholarships for Clemson's 11 intercollegiate sports.

Thousands of student athletes have received an education because of IPTAY which may not have otherwise been possible.

Lewis Holmes, as president, led IPTAY '74, and thanks to his efforts, those of his officers, and of the more than 400 IPTAY representatives, our goal was met.

Tiger quarterbacks have these 28 hands to throw to this fall when Clemson takes to the air. 1-Jerry Davis, 2-Michael Gaddis, 3-Rut Livingston, 4-Richard Ibach, 5-Joey Walters, 6-Jeff Buesing, 7-Bennie Cunningham, 8-Harold Cain, 9-Rich Bollinger, 10-Brad Ashley, 11-Jim Lanzendoen, 12-Rickey Bustle, 13-Craig Brantley, 14-Mike Webber.

CENTERS

Each play starts with these players. A true snap by the center sets the Tigers in action. 1-Jay Kries, 2-Maret Cobb, 3-Ron Bowlan, 4-Wayne Neely, 5-Gregg Smith, 6-Kevin Kries.

RUNNING BACKS

These are the running backs who must handle the handoffs and the veer pitchouts from the quarterbacks. 1-Thomas Eley, 2-George Bosse, 3-Marvin Anderson, 4-Steve Jasinski, 5-Ronnie Smith, 6-Bob Coffey, 7-O. J. Tyler, 8-William Scott, 9-Tony Mathews, 10-Don Testerman, 11-Ken Callicutt, 12-Roger McCrary, 13-Leon Hope, 14-Pat Swisher, 15-Fritz Edwards.

Clemson's defensive backs take a look at Death Valley from Section GG (Green Grass), keeping in mind that there's a lot of real estate to cover when Tiger opponents start passing. 1-Harry Plexico, 2-Tony Rouse, 3-Eddie Crawford, 4-Dennis Smith, 5-Roy Eppes, 6-Rick Carter, 7-Lynn Carson, 8-Chris Clifford, 9-Dale Ulmer, 10-Malcolm Marler, 11-Brian Kier, 12-Peanut Martin, 13-Mike Cornell, 14-Jim Ness, 15-Bill Wingo, 16-Mark Lee.

These players—the defensive tackles and middle guards—are down in the trenches where the in fighting goes on. 1-Harry Lee Fulwood, 2-G. G. Galloway, 3-Willie Anderson, 4-Richard Shafer, 5-Jerome Hill, 6-Mark Strawbridge, 7-Ken Weichel, 8-Chuck Gordon, 9-George Jehlen, 10-Nelson Wallace.

WHEN IT COMES TO SEAFOOD,
WE KNOW THE SCORE

Ever since we opened our first Red Lobster restaurant, we've been dedicated to doing one thing well: serving the finest in seafood at reasonable prices in an informal, bring-the-whole-family atmosphere.

We've traditionally specialized in Florida seafood, but your nearest Red Lobster also features delicacies from nearly all the waters of the world—from Maryland to Alaska, and from Chile to South Africa.

Tiger fan or worthy opponent, you're always welcome at The Red Lobster. So plan to have dinner with us after the game. At our place, everybody wins.

The simple equation: planning + execution (know-how, teamwork, stamina, desire) = success. And, continuing success leads to Number One. Every team that gets to be Number One uses this formula to perfection. It also is the concept that has sparked the go and grow of Sandoz Colors and Chemicals. One key element in this goal calls for a largely expanded and completely modernized laboratory, warehouse, and office facilities in Charlotte to meet the growing needs of the textile industry in the Southeast.

IPTAY--

Special Recognition

For the first time in the history of Clemson IPTAY, every county in the State of South Carolina, as well as North Carolina and Georgia, went over the 100 per cent mark in their 1973-74 quota. Altogether, nearly $680,000 was raised during the year and it marked the 10th straight year an increase was seen in funds contributed to the club.

This was the third straight year that over a half million dollars had been realized by IPTAY. Every penny received by IPTAY since its beginning in 1934 has been used for athletic scholarships only.

On the following pages, we have listed those people and business organization who are being recognized by their permission for their interest and continued support of IPTAY.

If you're itching to fly but don't have the scratch, the Air Force may have the answer. One of the benefits of Air Force ROTC is flying lessons. Enroll in Air Force ROTC, you're off, and the sky's no limit.

If college tuition money is a problem, Air Force ROTC may once again be the answer. If you qualify, you may find you can get one of the many college scholarships Air Force ROTC offers. And that would mean full tuition, lab and incidental fees, textbook reimbursement, and a monthly allowance of $100.00.

Not a bad deal. Flying lessons, free tuition, and $100.00 a month, tax-free to use as you like.

Sound great? Ask me how you can put it all together in Air Force ROTC. My name is Col. Duncan W. Rabey, Jr., and I'm on campus at Tillman Hall, Third Floor, Ext. 656-3254.

Put It All Together in Air Force ROTC.

Clemson's Mother of the Year

"Quick as you could make a cup of instant coffee, I became an instant Tiger," says Mrs. Mary Hood, named Mother of the Year by Clemson University Tiger Brotherhood.

The Bennettsville native came to Clemson in February of 1964 as head resident of Mauldin Hall, then the only women's dormitory on the campus.

She watched the construction of Manning Hall. In 1967, when it was completed, she moved in as head resident.

Her devotion to the university, as well as her other interests, are evident in the decor of her small apartment. Tiger pictures and steins from banquets of years past are as prominently displayed as the photographs of her son and daughter and her five grandchildren.

Mrs. Hood tries "to keep the dormitory homey and keep the girls happy." She prepares flower arrangements for Manning Hall and for organizations all over the campus.

She attends many campus activities. "When the girls come back they ask if you went," she says. "I like to say yes."

She listens to the girls' problems and sometimes cries along with them. "Boys come and talk too."

Mrs. Hood marvels at the changes that have taken place since she first came to the campus and still is awed by its beauty. She takes long walks all over the campus. "I think I know every nook and cranny."

Her plans after retirement July 1 are uncertain, but there's no question about her feelings on the past 11 years. "It's rewarding work. They get you all teary-eyed sometimes and sometimes they play tricks on you, but I just adore it."

He is 18 to 25 years old, wears bell-bottomed jeans, and spends nine months a year studying everything from art to zoology while listening to blaring music ranging from blues to bluegrass.

That's the typical college student, right?

Wrong! At least for a relatively new breed of student whose increasing presence on a campus like Clemson University proves an old adage: the day you receive that college diploma is the day you really begin your education.

These new students may be engineers, business executives, physicians, lawyers, architects, scientists, teachers, government officials or nurses. They may have been out of college two years or 20.

Their interest is not in grade-point averages, but in exposure to the most up-to-date information possible to sharpen career skills. They get that exposure through something called "continuing education."

Clemson's Continuing Engineering Education Program, a public service arm of the College of Engineering that reaches throughout the state—in fact, throughout the country—exemplifies this increasingly important kind of "post-graduate" study.

One of the strengths of the program is its flexibility—the length, location and subject matter of the courses are carefully tailored to the specific needs of its students.

Last year 85 separate short courses, conferences, seminars, and programs of evening classes — both here on campus and in other locations from throughout the Piedmont to Hilton Head — drew 3,767 participants, including 1,608 South Carolinians. Over 2,000 industries, agencies, and businesses from 42 states and 21 nations were represented at the Clemson programs. Typical of the "bigger" programs offered were the sixth annual International Biomaterials Symposium, a forum for pollution prevention workers, a short course on building design and operation for energy conservation, the annual South Carolina Highway Department Conference, and short courses on industrial energy conservation.

Out of college for two years or 20, they are back now for...

"POST-GRADUATE" STUDY

Flags of many nations are displayed at annual International Biomaterials Symposium.

The drawing card was a class in polymer processes — in simple terms, how to melt plastic and turn it into plastic bags, magnetic tapes, coatings for milk cartons, or polyester fibers.

James Rushton of Greenville, a consulting engineer with J. E. Sirrine Co., liked the double benefit he got from the program. "Whether you can pin increased knowledge on a sheepskin or not, the degree gets a person's attention when he is considering hiring you as a consultant. Then you must prove yourself by using the knowledge to progress in your career," he said.

When business matters made it impossible for Rushton to attend classes in the final weeks, his professor set up a home study consultation arrangement so he could complete the course.

"Even though I'm now in management I still feel I'm an engineer. My courses at Clemson have brought back engineering skills I'd lost from lack of use," said Bruce E. Scott, maintenance engineer for Dow Badische Co. in Anderson.

In the past couple of years the booming program has almost tripled its enrollment and more than quadrupled its offerings. The number and variety of Continuing Engineering Education programs is expected to grow, particularly in the short course area and the area of energy conservation.

The philosophy behind all this is that knowledge, like lake water, grows stagnant if it stands still.

Last fall four practicing engineers even helped beat the problem of the fuel shortage by car-pooling to classes in Clemson's evening graduate program for engineers. They could earn degrees without having to return to campus full-time.

J. Karl Johnson, director of continuing engineering education, stresses the program's flexibility and its benefits to the state: "Every attempt is made to set up the programs in useful formats and at convenient times and places. There is almost an immediate benefit to the citizens of South Carolina as a result of each of our programs. In this era of the knowledge explosion, professional personnel take what they've learned and apply it immediately to industrial production, pollution control, energy conservation, product improvements and medical care. Everybody gains."

"The continuing education student is not interested in grade-point averages, but in exposure to the most up-to-date information possible to sharpen career skills."

Johnson anticipates continued growth in the future. "The legislature's appropriation in the summer of 1973 of funds for a new Continuing Education Center at Clemson emphasizes how vital the state thinks these programs are. In continuing engineering education we've had to make some severe compromises because of space problems, but with the new facility we'll be able to provide more individualized instruction, develop video-tape presentations, and add week-long courses on specialized engineering topics," Johnson said.

The multi-purpose Continuing Education Center will be headquarters for not only continuing engineering education, but for similar programs conducted by all of Clemson's nine colleges.

As modern living reshapes the world of education, there is no longer any such thing as the "typical" college student. Today he is any age, studies when he can. He makes education a life-long experience. With programs available like Continuing Engineering Education, the modern professional has found that school is never really out.

Over the years, Zenith color TV has earned a reputation for dependability and picture excellence no other color TV can match.*

And today's Zenith solid-state Chromacolor II backs up that reputation with a combination of features no other color TV can offer.

The famous Chromacolor picture tube that set a new standard of excellence in color TV. A patented Power Sentry voltage regulator that protects components. And a rugged, 100% solid-state modular chassis for long-life dependability.

It's the best way we know to make sure, at Zenith, the quality goes in before the name goes on.®
